COLUMBUS.

The Life Story of a True Christian and Peerless Catholic Navigator.

Discovery Produced World's Greatest Geographical Change.

New Land Was Dedicated to the Saviour of Mankind.

CAME OF LOWLY PARENTAGE

The Southern Guardian, of Little Rock, has an excellent article on Columbus from the pen of Dr. Vincent Fallis, a former resident of this city and member of Mackin Council and the Knights of Columbus, from which we extract the following:

History has recorded many events that have made, here and there, changes of vast importance, but of those that affected the whole existing world stand out more clearly. First, the coming of God made man, which coming revolutionized ideas and ideals. The second, one that produced the greatest geographical change that the world has ever known, was that which took place in October, 419 years ago—the landing on the shores of a new world by that greatest of nautical heroes, Christopher Columbus. By those who seek to disparage Columbus great stress is laid upon the probabilities that others came to America before him. Since we believe that all mankind found origin in Adam and Eve, and since Columbus, upon his arrival, found human beings, it is very evident that some one covered America before Columbus. Then we have the story of the Mount Builders, but in later years the consensus of opinion is that they were simply a tribe of cultured Indians. Again we have the Norsemen, with hazy records, yet since they left no proof, such as utensils, cattle or other domestic animals, and since the records of these records were written 200 years after the supposed discovery, we have reason to believe, with such historians as Bryant, Weise and Beasum, that "there is not a single item in the evidence advanced to prove the presence of Norsemen on the soil of North America."

His was not a journey of the North Pole type, productive of no practical benefit to mankind, but a journey undertaken to put an end to the difficult and perilous voyage to India, and though the new route was longer, yet he hoped that more propitious seas would more than compensate for the length of the journey and thereby eliminate the horrors and dangers of the African coast. And how nearly correct were his calculations, considering the knowledge and instruments of his day, for the proof will show that he was on a straight line to India. But an Almighty Providence saw fit to place an obstacle in his path, and that obstacle—America—has proven to be of far more benefit to humanity than could have been the accomplishment of a journey to India.

Columbus, like the majority of the world's great men, came of lowly parentage, his father being a poor candlemaker, but young Christopher was not to be bound to the making of small lights, and hence he chose the sea for the display of his energy and manly numerous voyages to all parts of the known world, nor were his leisure hours spent in idleness or useless recreation, for he used them for study in those branches that would better fit him to take a commanding position in his profession. Astronomy, mathematics and geography he strove continually to master, and it was in the pursuit of these studies that he was convinced of the earth's shape and that a voyage to India by the western route was a possibility. But he was poor; he must needs look to others for support. He argued and gave his proofs to many without avail. He was scoffed and rebuffed as one mentally unbalanced; his theories as the visionary vapors of an abnormal intellect. But after years of fruitless endeavor he persuaded the good Queen Isabella of Spain to assist him, though the court of Spain was bankrupt following the wars with the Moors, yet history tells us that so impressed was she with the learning and earnestness of Columbus that she pawned her jewels in order to fit up an expedition. His expedition set sail from Palos on Friday, August 3, after Columbus and all his crew had received the sacraments. During the voyage which followed Columbus called into action all the attributes of a truly great commander, for he had to deal with mutiny, nostalgia and despair, but he was capable of handling each situation as it arose until finally, on the night of October 1, 1492, Columbus saw in the distance a tiny light moving to and fro—that light which has steadily grown and grown until now its radiance encircles the whole globe, dispelling the gloom of tyrannical darkness, beckoning to every downtrodden people and making light the path to a better and happier existence in this, our own free America, thus again duplicating that great light of Scripture which led a people out of bondage into a land of milk and honey. But Columbus, fearful, unwilling to trust his sight or to arouse false hopes, kept his peace, and early the next morning, October 12, a sailor on the lookout saw land and the pent-up hopes of realization gave vent in that glad shout of "Land! Land!" a shout destined to be echoed and re-echoed to the present time, when thousands yearly sight the Statue of Liberty and cry out "Land! Land of our dreams! Land of promise!" That is what this land has been since that memorable October of 1492.

What must have been the emotions in the breasts of those despairing men, and how much more intense must have been those of their commander—joy and satisfaction at the successful culmination of his efforts, gratitude to God, who in so magnificent and singular a manner answered his prayers, sacrifices, and we are told upon landing all threw themselves upon their knees, kissing the ground and thanking a beneficent Creator, while Columbus held aloft the manubrium of his sword, fashioned as a cross, christened the new found land San Salvador, thus dedicating it to the Saviour of the world.

After further explorations he returned to Spain for his reward. He was received with open arms and his prowess extolled on every side. But Columbus was not satisfied. Again and again he visited the scenes of his triumph, while his enemies were at work in the court of Spain, and finally, as a result of their intrigues, Columbus was branded a criminal and brought back to Spain in chains, where soon after the physical torments consequent upon exposure and the mental agony produced by the display of ingratitude made his soul long to break from its confinement, which it finally did on Ascension day, in the year 1506, a fitting day for the death of the second liberator.

HOLY NAME.

Laying of Corner Stone of Another Handsome Church.

Tomorrow afternoon will mark the greatest event yet recorded in the Catholic church in South Louisville—the blessing by the Right Rev. Bishop O'Donoghue of the cornerstone of the new and handsome Holy Name church being erected by the Rev. John O'Connor at Third and O streets. Under the administration of Father O'Connor the congregation has made phenomenal progress, and the new edifice will long stand as a monument to his zeal and energy. When finished it will be one of the finest churches in the diocese.

Bishop O'Donoghue will preside at the beautiful but impressive ceremonies and will be assisted by large numbers of the clergy, many of whom will be from outside the city. The sermon for the occasion will be delivered by the Rev. G. W. Schumann, D. D., pastor of St. John's church. Additional interest will be lent to the cornerstone laying by the parade of the Uniform Rank, C. K. of A., the Knights of St. John and the parish societies, under the marshaling of Major Gen. Michael Reicher and staff. The parade will form at Third and Avery, and headed by a platoon of police and the School of Reform and Knights of St. John bands will march through the principal streets of South Louisville to Third and O, where the blessing will take place at 2:30 o'clock.

RALLY NIGHT.

Knights of St. John Are to Entertain Wednesday Night.

St. Michael's Commandery of the Knights of St. John, one of the strongest in this section of the country, has arranged for a rally night of its members and their friends next Wednesday night in St. Peter's Hall, Seventeenth and Southgate streets. The interesting feature will be the conferring of honorary membership on Col. John H. Whalen, an honor bestowed on only three others in the history of this commandery. Col. Joe Breen, President Wittenauer and others have arranged an interesting programme, at the conclusion of which there will be a luncheon and refreshments.

Alderman Fred Leeder will preside and it is expected short addresses will be made by Rev. Father Jerome Preissner, Hon. Edward J. McDermott, William M. Higgins, Col. Joe Breen and Joseph Conkling. St. Michael's Commandery has an excellent record, and it is intended at this rally to inaugurate a movement that will bring into its ranks many new members. Several hundred invitations have been issued, and the committee predicts one of the largest and most enthusiastic gatherings in the history of Commandery 103.

"WATCHED."

Grant Kilkelly, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Kilkelly, 1653 Prindle street, was tendered a most delightful birthday party last Saturday evening in celebration of his nineteenth anniversary. The home was made beautiful with decorations and colored lights, and at the appointed time his mother and grandfather and friends arrived, each eager to greet him with a remembrance for his birthday. After an hour of music and dancing he was presented with a handsome gold watch by William M. Higgins on behalf of the happy parents. At the close the many guests were invited to the dining room, where a delightful repast was served.

ARE ROUTED.

Local Ticket Named by Democrats Assures a Glorious Victory.

Convention Most Harmonious Held Here For Many Years.

Great Outpourings Point Way the People Are Going to Vote.

O'REAR NOW ON THE RUN

If there ever was any doubt as to the result of the coming election in this district it was dispelled by the convention held Saturday and the tremendous outpouring that greeted Congressman Underwood Monday night. The convention to nominate a local ticket was called to order in Lederkrantz Hall by Chairman Frank McGrath and proved the most enthusiastic and harmonious of recent years. Sheriff Emier was elected to preside and John Shea was chosen Secretary. As was predicted in these columns, the present excellent city administration was given a hearty endorsement, nearly all the men now serving in the Legislature and the General Council being nominated for re-election. This means a big vote and a majority of at least 5,000 for the Democratic ticket.

Following is a complete list of the nominees:

Judge Jefferson Circuit Court, Chancery branch, First division—James Quarles.

STATE SENATOR.

Thirty-seventh district—Hite Hufaker.

PARK COMMISSIONERS.

Fred Levy, Dr. Walker B. Gossett and Ben J. Brumhere.

Judge Quarles was presented to the convention and made a speech that evidenced his fitness for the Circuit Court bench and the wisdom of the convention.

Tuesday night Congressman Underwood was here and addressed a monster gathering at Hopkins Theater. This meeting showed the voters will cast their votes and the fidelity of the Republicans making any further nominations.

Chairman R. H. Vansant, of the Democratic Campaign Committee, has issued a statement predicting Democratic success. This is not the claim of a rainbow-chaser who is fooling both himself and his party, but is the frank opinion of a practical man, who is in touch with every county in the State and who can speak authoritatively of the work that is being done. The organization is the best that has been made in Kentucky in many years. It not only comprises old and new leaders, but goes into every precinct and enlists the support of the rank and file, which after all determines whether victory or defeat shall be the portion of any party.

Judge O'Rear, who is now on the run, is writing under the charge of inactivity which has been made in every section of the State, and which has been confirmed by every word he has uttered since his nomination.

reorganization has been decided upon and a Papal bull will shortly be issued dividing England into three ecclesiastical provinces with archiepiscopal sees at Liverpool, Birmingham and Westminster. Two new dioceses will also be formed, one out of a portion of Liverpool and the other out of the actual diocese of Northampton, with its see in Cambridge. Thus the great see of Westminster will be considerably reduced, as instead of having fourteen suffragan sees, as now, it will have only four.

LIBERTIES

Always Safe When Committed to Catholic Hands.

Following an address by Gov. Dix, in which he characterized Thomas Dongan, the first and only Roman Catholic Governor of New York, as an "exemplar of loyalty and liberty," Archbishop John M. Farley declared Sunday at the unveiling of a memorial tablet to Gov. Dongan at St. Peter's church, that "where the liberties of a people are committed to a Catholic, their liberties are safer than when committed to any other individual."

"I would be derelict," the Archbishop continued, "if I were not to draw attention to this lesson from the career of the first Catholic Governor of New York—colonial. It is true, but we have never had another. Why not a Catholic Governor of New York again? If Gov. Dongan set the pace for the entire country in so many things, if his spirit informs the charter of New York today, as it does, and informs also the fundamental features of the Governments of most of England's colonial possessions today, why should we not entrust to a Catholic Governor the affairs of the State of New York some day?"

The ceremonies attending the unveiling were most impressive and were witnessed by a large and distinguished gathering.

RECENT DEATHS.

CHARITY CONTRACT.

The Floyd County Board of Commissioners has awarded a contract to St. Edward's Hospital in New Albany for the care of the county's charity patients for the ensuing year, the contract price being $1,500. For a number of years St. Edward's Hospital has cared for the county's charity patients, all of the charges frequently being filled with patients, whose care would have been a drain on the hospital's resources but for the donation. This year the law required the Commissioners to advertise for bids for this work, and as no other but that of the hospital for $1,500 was received the contract was accordingly awarded.

WELL DONE.

Capt. Michael Minton Is Called to His Eternal Reward.

Capt. Michael Minton, one of the best known figures on the streets of Louisville, has gone to his eternal reward and will be seen here no more. Coming to this country from Ireland at the age of seven, this city had been his home for sixty years. Educated at St. Mary's College, he joined the Union army and fought for the country of his adoption until wounded at the battle of Perryville. Capt. Minton afterward was Lieutenant of police, but for the past twenty-five years was engaged in the practice of law, and had been frequently called upon to preside on the bench. Monday morning he died at St. Mary and Elizabeth Hospital, where for some time past he made his home. The remains were brought to the chapel of Gran W. Smith's Sons, where they laid in state until the funeral, which took place from the Cathedral, members of the Grand Army of the Republic acting as pallbearers and honorary escort.

Capt. Minton always took a great interest in affairs of the Grand Army of the Republic, and was Past Commander of the organization. He seldom missed an encampment, and in this manner gained a wide acquaintance throughout the country. During the civil war he served in the Ninth Kentucky Cavalry, was twice wounded in action, and once was taken prisoner. His wife, who was Miss Ellen Josephine O'Grady, died fourteen years ago, and his only surviving relative here is his brother, Capt. Patrick Minton, the retired fireman. Capt. Minton was a man of generous and charitable impulses, and it was with profound sorrow that many learned of his death.

FOR ALL

Will Ring the Bell Blessed Tomorrow For St. George's.

Tomorrow will mark an eventful day for the people of St. George's parish on Eighteenth street, as at the solemn vespers at 7:30 o'clock in the evening the Rev. James P. Cronin, V. G., will bless the new bell and preach the sermon. For this important event the Rev. Father Weiss and his people have made special preparation and the scene will be one of dazzling splendor, and the music will be rendered by an augmented choir under the direction of Prof. P. A. Stark, with Mrs. Stark presiding at the organ. The cars on Eighteenth street pass the new and handsome church just erected by Father Weiss, whose good work is having effect in that section of the city.

The bell, which will ring for all, is one of the sweetest toned yet turned out by McShane & Co., the famed Baltimore bell founders. It weighs 2,060 pounds exclusive of the mountings and is valued at approximately $1,000. It will be soon placed in position, and its notes will be welcomed morning, noon, and night in all the homes of the parish. Rev. Father Weiss has done much for the people of his congregation and has reason to be proud of this latest achievement.

CANADA

May Benefit Through International Colonization Society.

"Back to the land" is the slogan of the International Catholic Colonization Society of America, recently formed with the aim of relieving the congestion in crowded cities of the United States and increasing the population of the agricultural communities of Canada and the United States, says a dispatch from Winnipeg, Man. It is the intention of the association to bring people, not only from the United States, but also from various parts of Europe, colonizing them into Catholic communities where opportunities are offered them to attend church and school. Of the immigrants to the United States from Europe, according to the late United States census reports, 300,000 are members of the Roman Catholic church. A locality in Western Canada has been inspected and approved by the heads of the international organization, extending along the Canadian Northern railway from Watson to Dana, Saskatchewan, including several thousand acres.

CARNIVAL TUESDAY.

A carnival will be held next Tuesday at Trinity Council Club house under the auspices of the Young Ladies' Sodality of St. James' church. The decorations will be gorgeous and many attractive booths will be provided over by bevy of young girls in fancy dress costumes. The receipts of the evening will go toward the building fund for St. James' new church, of which the Rev. Marie Willett is pastor.

JUBILEE.

Baltimore Is Now the Center of Catholic Activity and Interest.

Cardinal Gibbons Celebrating Silver Anniversary of His Elevation.

Began Saturday With Presentation of Handsome Silver Service.

WILL CONTINUE NEXT WEEK

Baltimore is now the center of Catholic activity and interest for the people of this country because of the religious celebration of the golden jubilee of the priesthood and the silver anniversary of the Cardinalate of Cardinal Gibbons, which began last Saturday and will continue next week, when the first Congress of the Holy Name Society in the United States will be convened. The event that started this great jubilee celebration was a unique one. In the office of Mayor Preston there gathered last Saturday Baltimore's leading business and professional men and the executive branches of the municipality. In the presence of this great throng the Cardinal was presented a silver service, said to be the handsomest and one of the costliest ever given an individual in that city. Those in attendance included Gov. Crothers, Mayor Preston and many representative citizens of the city and State.

Mayor Preston presided at the presentation as Chairman of the testimonial committee named to obtain the silver service for the Cardinal in honor of his dual jubilee. The Mayor also presented to the Cardinal a book containing the addresses of President Taft, former President Roosevelt and other famous men who took part in the civic demonstration last June. This book was bound in red leather and contained autographed photographs of President Taft, former President Roosevelt, Vice President Sherman, Ambassador Bryce, Senator Root and others. The Cardinal, in his address of acceptance, referred feelingly to the part taken in the civic demonstration by Bishop Murray, of the Protestant Episcopal diocese of Maryland.

The next important event was the laying of the cornerstone of the Cardinal Gibbons Memorial Hall at the Catholic University, Washington, on Thursday. This hall is a tribute to the people of the United States to America's only Cardinal in commemoration of the completion of the double jubilee. At this ceremony were present the hierarchy of the United States, besides hundreds of Catholic laymen from many parts of the country. Yesterday there was a meeting of the Trustees of the Catholic University, which was presided over by the Cardinal.

Tomorrow the monster ecclesiastical demonstration will take place in the old Baltimore Cathedral. Here will be assembled the leading Catholic church men of this country, Canada and Mexico. Monsignor Diomedeo Falconio, the Papal Delegate, will represent the head of the church. A solemn high mass, at which the Cardinal will pontificate, will be celebrated at 10:30 o'clock. A procession will form in Calvert Hall College, and in line will be the visiting Archbishops, Bishops, Monsignori, Abbots and priests, representing every part of the United States. The procession will march to the Cathedral, and as it enters a special hymn, written for the occasion, will be sung. A musical programme of great solemnity has been arranged. His Grace the Most Rev. J. J. Glennon, D. D., Archbishop of St. Louis, will deliver the sermon. Following the mass a banquet will be served at St. Mary's Seminary. Those who will respond to toasts are Monsignor Falconio, Archbishop Ireland, Bishop Donahue, Archbishop Farley, Archbishop Bruchesi, Archbishop Jose Monte de Oca, Mexico; Monsignor Shaham and Bishop Maes.

In the evening there will be a solemn mass in the Cathedral, at which Monsignor Falconio will preside. Archbishop James H. Blenk, of New Orleans, will be the orator of the occasion. The following day, October 16, the Holy Name Congress, which will draw thousands of men from nearly every city in the country, will be convened. It will be addressed by Cardinal Gibbons. At 3 p. m. there will be a grand parade of at least 20,000 men, in honor of the Cardinal. Tuesday the Holy Name meetings will continue, there will be social entertainments and trips, a dinner to the Cardinal at Notre Dame College and a reception in the evening. Thursday will take place the children's celebration.

WALKS AGAIN.

Friends of Edward J. Schranz are pleased to see him again with the M. S. Morse Clothing Company, after being confined to his home for a month with a sprained ankle.

DEATH LOSS AWFUL.

The census just taken in Italy reveals the dreadful fact that 76,000 persons were buried in the ruins of Messina on the morning of its earthquake.
